FUND FOR MISSIONS ADVENTISTS' THEME

General Conference Promotes Campaign—Church Features Discussed.

Declaring that the denomination ought in the near future to set its goal at $1,000,000 a year for the support of missions, President G. D. Daniels of the general conference of Seventh-day Adventists made a speech at today's council session in Takoma Park in favor of the campaign that is to be carried forward in all of the 2,700 churches for the furtherance of the twenty-cent-a-week fund. It is this fund that the denomination in America depends upon for the support of its missionaries.

A vigorous campaign is to be conducted during the remaining months of this year with the determination that the desired amount—$100,000 for each of the 70,000 members in this country—will be raised. It is expected that $100,000 of the amount will be raised in the harvest ingathering, which members in all parts of North America have been conducting this month.

In speaking of the importance of every believer taking a more active part in this effort, President Daniels told of some of the difficulties experienced by some of the missionary corps of his denomination in a foreign country, where he was a recent visitor.

He also emphasized his belief that the Adventist movement was a world-wide movement. He said his denomination twenty-five years ago looked forward to a world-wide movement until now it has reached such proportions.

Speeches in Favor of Campaign.

O. A. Olsen of Chicago, vice president of the North American division conference, Charles Thompson, president of the North Union; G. F. Watson of Keene, Tex., president of the southwestern union conference; S. E. Wight, president of the southern union; J. L. McElhany, president of the Greater New York conference; E. C. Slade, president of the Ohio conference, and others spoke in favor of the campaign.

A resolution was introduced by Elder McElhany to the effect that a committee be appointed to study the question of the efficiency of the church organization, and the relationship existing between the local churches and conference officers, and make recommendations to the council with the view of strengthening and making more effective the carrying out of the plans of this fund. This means that the entire ministry in North America will adopt the plans recommended upon which to work, and will lead in the campaign in their respective conferences and the local church elders will also be urged to become active in this campaign.

Elder Watson said that the ministry in Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, the territory over which he presides, had already contributed from $10.40 up to $20 each in order to encourage the movement, and had also pledged to give weekly contributions in the Sabbath school, midsummer and annual of ferings, which are devoted entirely to foreign missionary endeavor.

Tells of Work in Africa.

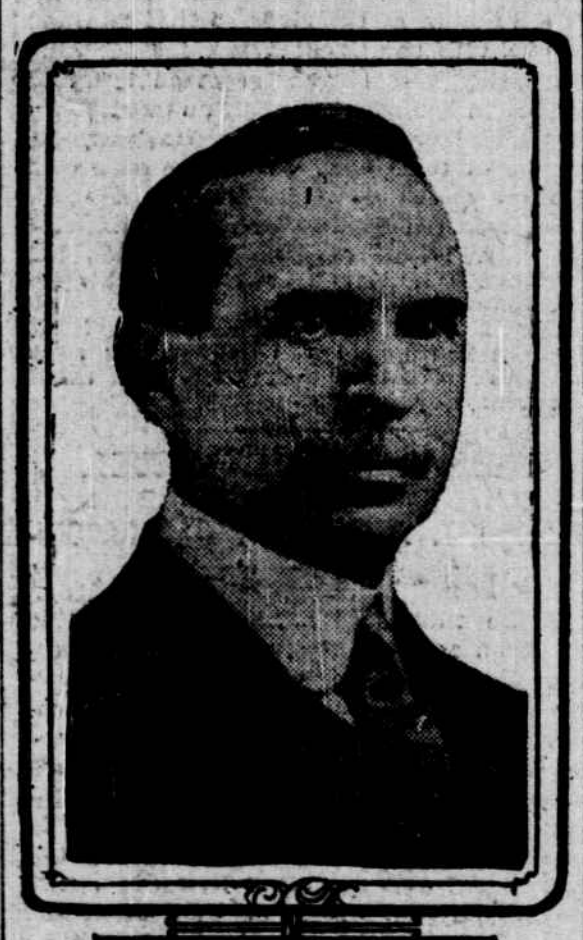

Elder L. R. Conrad, vice president of the general conference, and having charge of denominational work in Europe and northern Africa, gave an account of the mission work being conducted in British and German territory around Lake Victoria Nyman in East Africa. At the present time mission work is being conducted among five nationalities, covering about 11,000 square miles, at eighteen mission stations, at an annual expense of about $40,000.

At nearly all these stations school work is carried on, at which nearly 2,500 native young people are given instruction in gospel and industrial lines to better them as useful members of the country.

Literature is being produced in languages which have heretofore been without printed matter of any kind. Arrangements are nearly completed to print the New Testament in the Chassu language.
